Neither is there anything known to be back in the interior upon which sudden attempts to realize may precipitate unexpected offerings upon the market, and the accumulation of the country is generally considered as under perfect country, with every prospect that it will all be wanted as well as a large proportion of the stock coming from abroad. Prices naturally retain strongsupport, and on all grades the limit is very full, with a further advance of late made on the leading styles, and the tenderon still prove in excess of the wants of the marport, and on all grades the limit is very full, with a further advance of late made on the leading styles, and the tendency still somewhat buoyant at the close. Birth Day Party. One of the most pleasant occasions of he year took place yesterday at the residence of Mr. Hugh Brown, on North Fourth street. Mrs. Brown's twin sister Mrs. David Hays, of Newburg, New York, is visiting her, and yesterday being he 70th birthday of both ladies it was deermined properly to observe the same. Accordingly the children and grandchildren assembled at Mrs. Brown's resilence, and besides enjoying the usual so-ial intercourse sat down to a dinner fit or a king, to which, as may be imagined, full justice was done. A gold ring an pin were presented to each of the ladie as a memento of the occasion, Rosema

as a memento of the occasion, Roseman Gardner delivering the articles in the following appropriate remarks:

FRIKNDS—Owing to the pleasure derived from this assembling, and the great rarity of similar occasions, it seems fitting that we should give some formal expression to the feeling that doubtless swells up in the heart of every one present. We this day have met to colebrate the seventieth Anniversary of the birth of mother and aunt, who were born, matured and grew up together to womanhood, and even to call gether to womanhood, and even to old age, as we find them to-day; whose close ationship and even constant affection throughout three score years and ten, have so endeared their lives, that even their voices, walk, appearance and features are remarkably alike. We are proud to greet them to-day as mother and aunt, and sin-remarkably alike. We are proud to greet them to-day as mother and aunt, and sincerely regret that all the members of the two families are not here to rejoice with us at these birthday festivities.

Aunt and mother, on behalf of your children, who hold you very precious, I have the pleasure of presenting you each a handsome gold ring and pin, as a memento of this occasion. Wear them and may they be a reminder of their never ending love for you both. After we separate this time we may never again all meet around the family board; but may we live so that when done with earth we shall gather as an undivided circle in that "Home so bright and fair," where some dear ones now awaitus, where pain and parting never come, but all is joy and peace and rest, sweet rest.

Among those present were John Frew, wife and son, of Wheeling; Cyrus Scott and wife, R. M. Brown, wife and children; R. Gardner, wife and children; Miss Amie Brown, Mr. H. H. Brown, and John Orr and wife.

The INTELLIGENCER has been dig-standing there is a worm at the root which is destined to materially injure the institution. In its looking over at Romney, the State pen at Moundsville, almost directly under its nose, has been overlooked. According to report here are much surer results buried so shallow as to almost require no "stripping." The case in point is an evidence of a wheel within a wheel, or a systemstic ring. We are told that when about the last contracts for improvements to the penitentiary were to be let that the draughts were drawn and a citizen of Wheeling, one who holds a high position of trust, took the papers into his position of trust, took the papers into his possession. Parties came to bid on the work and could find no specifications. Thus it went on until too late for outsiders and the award made at a large action over what it could have been done for by those who came from abroad.
